SUMMARY

I'm a former occupational therapist with 6 years of experience in healthcare, now transitioning into the dynamic field of web development after completing a rigorous bootcamp program.

Motivated by a desire to merge my problem-solving skills and creativity, I seek to leverage my unique background to excel in web development roles.

With a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Ruby on Rails, I aim to contribute my adaptability and communication prowess to collaborative projects, fostering impactful change in innovative tech environments. Currently, I am actively seeking opportunities in both backend and frontend development to further apply and expand my skills.
